

Round-up of Localities.

GENTS' clothing cleaned and mended and ladies' fancy work stamped by MRS. J. W. REEL.

SUNDAY and Monday mornings were the coldest this fall. Mercury went to zero.

Two or three inches of snow fell here last Friday morning and it has not yet disappeared.

THE elder Jones, of the WORLD, will go down to Boise to-day to run the Legislature for a few days.

MRS. C. MARCUS has a handsome stock of holiday goods. Drop in and take a look at them.

Parisian papers say that Miss Mackay is going to marry Don Fernando Colona, a Prince of Galatro.

ED. MALOY and Jas. Emerson killed thirty deer inside of three weeks this fall. They have several yet to pack in, and went out yesterday after another load.

JAS. MORIARTY was considerably jarred up the other evening by jumping from a wagon, on the Boise road. The wagon ran into a rut, and Jim went overboard.

David Heron, Assessor-elect, has purchased of D. B. Kimmel the brick house and three lots on Idaho street, between 12th and 13th streets. Price, $3,000. Mr. Heron has moved into the house. This is another valuable addition to the better class of our population.—[Republican.]

A CORRESPONDENT of the Ketchum Keystone, who is evidently a high-grade weather sharp, says that the mild weather this fall, and unusual absence of snow, was caused by heat generated by the active political campaign through which we have just passed, which is undoubtedly the correct theory, for since the 4th day of November the weather has been gradually growing cooler.

SEVERAL of the "old boys" of this place started an interesting game of draw poker three or four days ago, more or less, and the playing was kept up with a keen interest until yesterday morning, the players staying with it day and night. After they quit yesterday morning, one of the players, a dry joker, said: "I'll be eternally honswaggled if I can tell whether this is yesterday, to-day, to-morrow, day before to-morrow or the day after yesterday."

NEWS MINER: Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Van Ness left on Sunday morning train for Boise City. Mrs. Van Ness will go on to Idaho City and Centerville, in which latter place she will visit her sister, Mrs. Dempsey.—The new schedule of the Oregon Short Line is on a scale of 22½ miles per hour, net, making the distance from Granger, Wyoming, to Huntington, Oregon, in just twenty-five hours. The trains will be first-class and have Pullman cars.—F. O. Harding will probably issue the first number of his paper at Huston in about two weeks.

ALEXANDER GRAHAM was up the other day from the mouth of More creek with five dozen brooms, which he retailed at fifty cents each. They were made by Jacob Myer, assisted by Mr. Graham, who says he is working under the former as an apprentice. The corn used in the manufacture of these brooms was raised at the mouth of More creek, and is of a good quality. Although Mr. Graham is nearly 71 years of age, he says he is not too old to learn. The brooms are as well made as those shipped from the East. The machine for turning the handles cost $150, and is run by water power.

JUDGE MORGAN holds that the present Registration Law is unconstitutional, for the reason that it does not permit a certain class of persons to register, neither does it furnish an opportunity or means of registration—persons who are otherwise legally qualified—and then provides that no one shall vote unless registered. This denial of suffrage is a violation of Article Fourteen of the Constitution, which declares that no State shall make or enforce any law which shall abridge the privileges or immunities of the citizens of the United States. Now, under our present registration laws, every person before he shall be entitled to have his name registered, shall take an oath or affirmation, administered by the registry agent. The registry agent cannot take the oath before himself, and consequently he cannot be registered in his own precinct, and there is no provision allowing him to register in any other precinct. Any person has as much right to place his name on the registration books as the register himself has. There are at least some 200 of these registry agents in this Territory, deprived of a legal and constitutional right. The closing of the registration books on the 21st of October, prevents the registration of all persons who come of age between the 21st of October and the day of election. They are, nevertheless, qualified voters under the Constitution of the United States and the laws of this Territory. If the registration law is valid, then they are also debarred the privilege of suffrage. Section Fourteen of the Registry Act states that no person shall be entitled to vote unless his name appears on the day of election in the check list. This list is a copy of the register, and the Judge holds that this section disfranchises all the above persons as effectually as if they resided in the Sandwich Islands.

DEMOCRAT:—An old Democrat says that Polk poked 'em, Pierce pierced 'em, Buchanan bucked 'em, and Cleveland cleaved 'em.—If the opening is any indication the passenger and freight traffic over the Oregon Short Line will be immense.—Extra stages plied between Boise and Kuna last week to help bring in the legislative intellect.—The ground was covered with snow Friday morning, but the sun soon dissipated it.—From the present outlook Boise will be shipping in apples before the winter closes. Last fall orchardists were gloomy over the prospects of tons upon tons of fruit rotting upon their hands.—The Seven Devils country, 150 or so miles to the northward of us, will be the mining excitement of next season. There is a district there of many miles in extent that prospects high in silver and copper.—Previous to the election of Cleveland the Democrat boss, by the use of sufficient diplomacy, could always successfully negotiate for a dollar's worth of brown sugar. But what a blessed change has been wrought by electing a Democrat President of these United States! Now he can get anything he wants anywhere in town by simply paying for it; and if he don't happen to have the rhino about his person (which is usually the case) the merchant kindly tells him he will wrap the article up, lay it aside, and keep it for him until he gets the money. He will never live under another Republican administration.

Gone East. James Monroe left here Sunday for Illinois, on mining business, and expects to be gone until May. Jim will endeavor to induce capital to come to Boise county in the spring. He has been constantly engaged in quartz mining for eighteen years, and thoroughly understands the business in all its branches. Mr. Monroe is a heavy owner in the following mines in Boise county: The Silver Chief, Golconda and Trade Dollar, all of which are rated as good claims. A clean-up recently made from Silver Chief ore, taken from the depth of three hundred feet below the surface, yielded $109 per ton, a bar of which will be sent to Joliet, Ill. Assay value of bar—$1,294. The bar was made and assayed by E. W. Barry, the Elmirra company's assayer. The fineness of the silver is 951, which is extra fine.

The Silver Chief mine is much in need of hoisting and milling machinery. The Golconda is a gold mine with a fine steam mill, which was erected last July. This mine has more water to contend with than could be profitably managed without hoisting works, consequently work was suspended a short time ago, until the necessary machinery could be procured. Eighty tons of ore put through the new mill this last summer payed well, and by next fall we expect to see this mine in good working shape and paying handsome dividends. The Trade Dollar is a new discovery, made late in the summer, and but little has been done towards developing the claim. The ledge is finely situated for working, is fifteen inches in width, and assays $96 per ton—$41 in gold and $55 in silver.

KEYSTONE: Frank Dickerson, the deaf and dumb boy, fell off the platform at the sampling works Saturday and dislocated an ankle.—We are a little late with the paper this evening. Being the first of the month, and collection day, the Keystone force took refuge in the wood house until the excitement was over.—Last evening, in Hailey, a pistol fell from the pocket of Wm. McWilliams and exploded a cartridge. The ball entered the right leg of Costello near the knee, and passed through.—The Parker is giving up its wealth by the quantity. There is much ore in sight and much coming out. The quality is of the best, a good deal sampling well up into the hundreds. John Pilmer's teams take to Hailey 10 to 12 tons at a load. There are 35 to 40 men at the Parker. The new machinery is in fine working order and is doing good work.—A beautiful chunk of ore was brought down from the Mattie mine, and placed in the Ketchum Bank. It weighs 438 pounds and is over two feet in length and averages about one foot in thickness. The ore is bright galena carbonates, with a little quartz. It is rich in silver, and makes a rare specimen. The Mattie is seven miles up Trail creek from Ketchum.

ANOTHER serious charge has been brought up against the Hon. T. F. Singiser. The Democrat, at the close of a lengthy article, charging Singiser with sneakily skipping the country says that "he emerged from a door all muffled up and climbed into the stage." The Republican asks: "Should he have come from a back alley, and in a nude condition, on such a cold morning as was that of last Tuesday, in order to indicate that his intentions were honest?" The Republican says Singiser should have been in Washington on the 1st, but was detained in Boise on business. The Democrat has frequently said that Mr. Singiser, after his term was up, would not return to Idaho—that, in the strict sense of the word, our Delegate is not a citizen of Idaho, and never will be. The Democrat's prediction may prove true. We shall soon see.

DENNIS CROWLEY bought the Huffman ranch, on Lower Squaw creek, the other day, for $3,600.

Bonanza and Custer. Correspondence Ketchum Keystone. The Whale mine, across Jordan Creek from Mount Estes, owned by James Hooper and the Galatian brothers, was leased this fall to five men, James Reynolds, James Troyma, John McCane, William Merritt and Oliver Blanchett. Since then they have done a large amount of work. Have put up a dwelling house, a blacksmith shop, besides doing many other things that were necessary for the convenience of working the mine. They have also taken out eight and one-half tons of ore, which was shipped by pack train to the Custer mill and crushed, paying $180 per ton. Only four of the men are working at the mine. They are all good, practical miners, and by spring will have a large quantity of ore on the dump, and also have much done in the way of development.

Superintendent Hooper, of the Montana mine, has got in all his supplies for the winter, and has twelve men employed. In the next few months more than usual will be done in the way of development, and it is to be hoped the ore taken out may next season yield as rich profit to the owner as it did this.

A short distance from the Montana, on Mt. Estes, the Goldstone is being worked by a company of four men. This fall Tom Flint and Alex. Robinson made a discovery that they thought would justify them in bringing in a supply of provisions for the winter, and they feel confident that they have a rich mine.

Bonanza and Custer are very dull and will be for the next few months, but a few of us, at least, have faith—believe that the future has something brighter in store for us, so we patiently bide our time.

On Sunday morning, at a wood camp eight miles above Custer, John Davinger, a chopper, was found dead in his bed. He was a man of good habits, and seemingly in good health. Death must have come to him without warning, as his companions knew nothing of it, and supposed as it was Sunday morning, he wanted to sleep longer than usual, and great was their surprise when at last they went to awaken him to find that his spirit had taken its flight. Very little is known of his past history, but it is thought he is from California and that he has two or three daughters living there.
